At its heart is a 1-kilometre all-weather cable car that ascends 430 meters to a summit offering panoramic 360° views of the Whitsunday Islands, mainland Whitsundays, and the Coral Sea. The summit will feature amenities such as dining options, educational exhibits, and entertainment facilities, providing visitors with a comprehensive experience that highlights the region's environmental and cultural heritage.

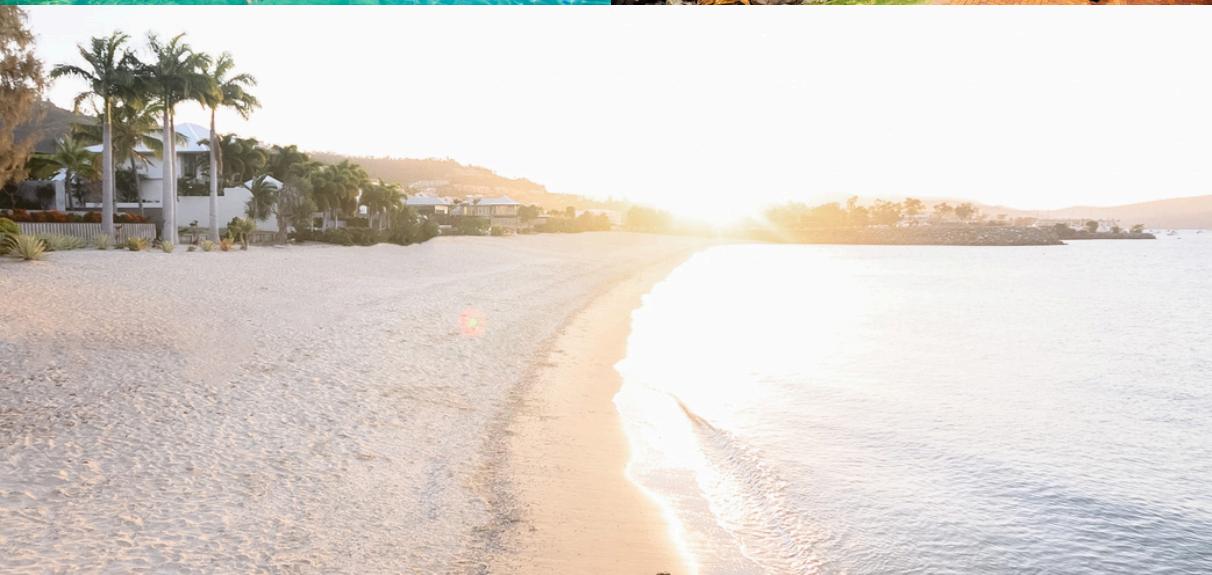

Beyond the cable car, the Whitsunday Skyway plans to offer a variety of adventure activities, including a downhill luge, mountain bike trails, and junior ropes courses. The project aims to enhance access to currently inaccessible viewpoints and promote conservation efforts within Conway National Park. Strategically located within walking distance of Airlie Beach's main attractions and marinas, the Skyway is poised to become a significant land-based complement to the area's traditional water-focused tourism, attracting an estimated 250,000 visitors annually and boosting the local economy.
